

Submission of Metadata on Research Data Underlying the Results Published in Peer-Reviewed Journal Articles or Conference Papers Funded in Whole or in Part by IARPA

This template applies to “Final” Submittals of metadata on datasets underlying the results of research papers published, or accepted for publication, in peer-reviewed journal articles or conference papers.

This template also applies to “Interim” Submittals, which are made at the end of the period of performance on research data not already described in previous submittals. Interim Submittals cover datasets underlying the results of research papers that are in progress at the end of the period of performance. When such an in-progress research paper is subsequently accepted for publication in a peer-reviewed journal or conference, awardees are expected to make Final Submittal(s) of metadata describing the dataset(s) underlying the paper’s results.

Dataset Description

1. Type of Submittal: Final ____ Interim ____

Check “Final” if the dataset underlies the results in a research paper that has been published, or accepted for publication, in a peer-reviewed journal or conference.

Check “Interim” if this submittal is being made at the end of the period of performance on behalf of a dataset underlying the results of an in-progress research paper.

2. Sponsoring IARPA Program (required):
3. Sponsored Research Organization (required):
4. IARPA Contract Number (required):
5. Dataset Title (required):
6. Dataset Description (required): Provide a clear, concise summary of the content of the dataset, including the type of data – numeric data, figures/plots, still images or photos, multimedia, mixed (for example, in the case of an aggregate dataset containing different types of data), etc. – contained in the dataset.

7. Dataset Keywords (required):

8. Dataset Author(s) [Creator(s)/Principal Investigator(s)] (required):

a. Full name:

b. Affiliation:

c. Email:

d. ORCID, if available:

9. Dataset Date of Issue (required): This typically coincides with the date of last update of the dataset or the date of publication of the associated peer-reviewed journal article or conference paper. For final submittals, the date of issue is the date that will be associated with the dataset when the dataset is cited or referenced in publications. For interim submittals, the date of issue is a tentative date, which is subject to update in a final submittal.

10. Dataset Date of Release (required for Final Submittals): Enter the date on which the dataset is slated to become publicly accessible. This typically coincides with the date of publication of the associated peer-reviewed journal article or conference paper. However, the date of release may be later, for example, if the dataset is subject to an embargo period to allow the dataset authors to publish further results based on the dataset.

11. Associated Peer-Reviewed Publication(s) (required for Final Submittals): Enter bibliographic information on peer-reviewed journal articles or conference papers whose results are based on the dataset. The bibliographic information should include the following information:

a. Title of Journal Article or Conference Paper:

b. Authors (full names and affiliations):

- c. Journal, for journal article (full journal name, volume, issue, page numbers, and any other pertinent publication information, to the extent known if the article has been accepted for publication but not yet published or scheduled for publication):

- d. Conference, for conference paper (full name of conference, location of conference, dates of conference, conference sponsor):

- e. IARPA Program and Contract Number:

12. Associated In-Progress Research Paper(s) (required for Interim Submittals):
Enter the following information on in-progress research papers whose results are based on the dataset:
